Accepted. Although discussions have taken place regarding the performance and related program adjustments for grant programs, it is evident that discussions have not been documented to validate that the intended outcomes are being effectively managed. Appropriate resources will be allocated to implement processes that will demonstrate full implementation of the recommendation.

21. Awarding Beginning Farmer Loans

We recommend that the Agriculture Financial Services Corporation:

- clearly define eligibility criteria for the Beginning Farmer Loans program.
- document its evaluation of the loan applicant against the program eligibility criteria.
- analyze the borrower's financial condition before approving the loan in accordance with its procedures.
- monitor accounts in arrears in accordance with its procedures.
- complete an analysis to support the level of program fees charged.
- monitor and evaluate the borrower against the eligibility criteria required to earn the interest rate discount.

Accepted. Following a review of the objectives of the program, policies regarding loan eligibility and incentives will be reviewed and redefined as required to ensure that the criteria are clear, measurable and can be applied consistently. Criteria will be developed to establish the basis on which loan fees are determined as well as how they compare to the lending industry. Procedural improvements will be made to ensure that evaluation and analysis of borrowers' repayment capacity is undertaken and properly documented and to ensure that the level of file administration and documentation is appropriate for security valuation and monitoring and follow-up of delinquencies.

22. Managing the Beginning Farmer Loans program

We recommend the Agriculture Financial Services Corporation:

- develop a human resource plan for lending that identifies the staff and skills required to deliver farm lending programs.
